Humanitarian Purpose Practice Permit

The Nursing and Midwifery Board of Ireland (NMBI) is introducing a 'Humanitarian Practice Permit'.

This comes with the commencement of a section of the Nurses and Midwives Act (NMA) (2011) - Section 41 of Part 6 (Registration and Practice).

Under Section 39 of the act a person cannot practise the profession of nursing or midwifery without being registered in the relevant division of the Register. Section 41 provides for limited circumstances - rendering first aid or for 'humanitarian purpose' - in which a person can practise nursing or midwifery without obtaining full registration in the Republic of Ireland.

It is important to note that Section 41 only applies to a person who is qualified to practice nursing and midwifery in another jurisdiction outside of the Republic of Ireland and European Union member states. The humanitarian purpose permit issued by the NMBI is valid for the person to practise in the Republic of Ireland for up to a maximum of 30 days.

The parameters of 'humanitarian purpose' are:

- a. Patient transfer (emergency and acute clinical care)
- b. Healthcare education programme that requires the nurse/midwife to be in a clinical area
- c. Accompanying a client/person for a social event
- d. Patient support for short term respite care.

*It is very important to note that outside these parameters, the nurse/midwife will be required to apply to NMBI for full registration.

Who can apply for a NMBI 'Humanitarian Purpose Practice Permit'?

The permit applies to nurses/midwives from non-EU member states based on the need to practise for a humanitarian purpose.

EU member state registrants can apply to practise in Ireland through the 'Temporary and Occasional Registration' route. An online application can be made for a European Professional Card (EPC) certificate through the European Internal Market Information System (IMI). By subsequently requesting the 'Temporary and Occasional' Registration route for Ireland, successful applicants may be provided with up to 12 months registration.
